Executive Summary

Part I: General Information About The Agency

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, Commission on Colleges (SACS or agency), is a regional institutional accreditor. SACS accredits or preaccredits ("Candidate for Accreditation") 794 degree-granting institutions of higher education in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia, including distance and correspondence education programs offered at those institutions.

Over 98% of the 794 institutions accredited by the Commission rely on the agency's continued recognition by the U.S. Department of Education for access to Title IV, HEA programs. The Department received no 3rd party written comments and no complaints for this compliance issue for agency.

Recognition History

SACS appeared on the initial list of nationally recognized accrediting agencies published by the U.S. Office of Education in 1952. The agency's recognition has been periodically reviewed and continued recognition has been granted after each review.

The agency's last review for continued recognition was in 2017, which resulted in the agency having to submit a compliance report regarding one outstanding issue. The agency's compliance report submission is the subject of this analysis.

Analyst Remarks to Response:

In response to the draft staff analysis, the agency provided additional clarification for the deletion of the site evaluator's signature on the conflict of interest attestation within exhibit 8 of the original compliance report response. Specifically, the agency explains that the evaluator did not attend the off-site evaluation due to a medical emergency. Further, the agency provided documentation of the evaluators excused absence via the agency's data management system and email notification to the Chair of the site visit team (exhibit A).

In addition, the agency provided additional explanation and documentation on the collection of conflict of interest forms from the appeals committee members. Specifically, the agency narrative, exhibits and supplemental documents uploaded by the analyst demonstrates clarification on the agency's prior use of email notifications as documentation for conflicts of interests identified by appeals committee members and oftentimes the board members (exhibits B-C and uploaded documents 1-4). Particularly, the agency practice as demonstrated for the appeal conducted during the recognition period, required the appeal committee members to identify their conflicts of interests via email (exhibits B-C). However, the agency has since changed its policy and now requires the appeal committee members to sign conflict of interest forms, as well as all identified by this criterion (uploaded documents 2-4). The agency also provided the new policy and implementation of this new policy with the submission of signed conflict of interest forms by appeals committee members for a recent appeal to the Analyst (uploaded documents 3-4).
